CLAYTON IS OUT OF SENATE RACE

On Tip From President, He Gives Way To Underwood, Leaving Only Hobson to Contest.

BIG CHIEF BENDER WINS HIS SECOND

Players' Share for Series $135,163.89

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—Here are the official figures on attendance and receipts for to-day's game:

GIANTS' GAME RALLY AGAINST HEAVY LEAD IS DRILLIANT BUT FUTILE

Under the terms of the will of his father, Mrs. Olive M. Healey, just died, for probate, W. T. Healey, head of the Healey Realty and Improvement Company, is named as the sole beneficiary of her estate, valued at $4,000,000.

New York Fugitive Caught in Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 10.—Detective William H. Wedman, of Rochester, N. Y., is here to take into custody D. W. Burton, arrested for grand larceny.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—At the request, it is said, of President Wilson, Representative Clayton, of Alabama, today announced his withdrawal from the senatorial contest in Alabama in favor of Representative Underwood.

The withdrawal of Mr. Clayton from the Alabama senatorial contest narrows the contest down to Congressman Oscar Underwood, Democratic floor leader, who announced last Saturday, and Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson, of the Sixth Alabama District, who has been an avowed candidate for almost a year.

The Box Score

New York 1000 320—8 8 2
Philadelphia 100 320—6 9 0

After the game was the last in which the players get any share of the receipts. Their total for the four games is $135,163.89. Up to to-day's game they had garnered $108,855.55. The team which wins the championship will receive $1,000,000, and the losers $500,000.

Daughter-in-Law Left Out. The name of Mrs. Ethel T. Lamar, widow of one of Mrs. Healey's sons, Mrs. Healey, is left out of the will. It is understood, is partly because of the litigation with which Mrs. Lamar greeted the filing of the will of T. G. Healey, her husband's father, who died about ten years ago.

More Saloonists in Chattanooga Guilty

CHATTANOOGA, Oct. 10.—H. H. Chatham, proprietor of the Marble Hall saloon, and C. R. and J. H. Sullivan were arraigned before Criminal Judge McIlwain today and sentenced to six months' imprisonment and fined $50 and costs on the charge of violating their promise not to sell whisky again.

Jap Warship Boilers Explode; 2 Killed

The litigation was settled by the courts awarding Mrs. Lamar a third of her father-in-law's estate; Mrs. Healey, the widow, receiving a third, and the other share going to William T. Healey, who has now received the entire estate of his mother.

Chief's Close Call Stirs Fire Fighters

The narrow escape from death of Fire Chief Cummings Thursday night formed the topic of conversation in fire department circles Friday.

Deserters Accused Of Assault Caught

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Privates Joseph E. Denton and Albert R. Robertson, of Company C, Engineer Corps, U. S. A., charged with assaulting Abraham Yockelson, a second-hand clothing dealer, and with desertion, were captured today in the dense undergrowth of a wild region on Potomac state in the park which runs from the White House to the river.

The official figures were about the same as for the first game here, a little more than 20,000 persons. The stands and bleachers were crowded, however.

Indians and Negroes Riot at Fishing Meet

WILMINGTON, N. C., Oct. 10.—News reached here today of a riot at Moss Neck, on the Seaboard Air Line in Robeson County, between Indians and negroes, when a crowd had assembled to fish where water was being drawn from a pond. Liquor was said to have been abundant and drinks numerous.

Charges of Usury Against Romy Men

ROME, Oct. 10.—Four prominent citizens have been indicted on charges of usury. They are A. S. West, president of the West Loan and Trust Company; C. A. Todd, Sr.; J. E. Robbins and Ben Giam.

Details of the Third Mack Victory Exactly as Played

FIRST INNING. Snodgrass, leading off for the Giants, swung at a fast ball and then tried to bunt, popping the ball high in the air. Doyle fouled off a first one, waited for two wide ones, and then hit a fly to Strunk, who pulled it down after a nice run. Fletcher hit the first pitch for a strike. The Giants looked pretty soft.

THE SIXTH SEASON OF SERIES TO-DAY

Young Shawkey, However, May Be Sent Against the Old Master, "Big Six."

By BILLY SMITH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Not bragging about my judgment, you know, but I believe I said something about the World's Series ending this week, if it didn't rain—or Monday, at the latest.

I see no reason this morning to back up on that proposition.

It is up to Matty to-day, and the "Old Master" will have one great point against him, and two smaller points for him. The thing against Matty in this crucial game is the confidence of the Athletics. They have won three games. They have only to win one more. That is, they have only to keep the Giants from winning three straight games.

That looks pretty easy, any way you take it. And I know, being somewhat connected with that end of the game, what confidence does for a ball club.

Giants Can't Take Chances.

They go out and take lots of chances, and pull lots of stuff, and in so doing they get most of the breaks. The Giants can't take any chances at all. They must play safe all the time. They can't pull any stuff as long as the score is close, and it doesn't look as if McGraw's men will enjoy a single run-away game in this series.

This is a big point against the Giants.

Now for the points in Matty's favor. In the first place, he is almost sure to have for his opponent on the slab a young pitcher, either Shawkey or Curd Brown.

Now you can say all you please about the way Leslie Bush got away with it in his game, but for all that the Giants are no easy picking for a good pitcher. Old Chief Bender had his hands full, and mighty near running over, yesterday—and he had a lead of six runs, at that.

If one of those bright young lads goes in there to-day and wobbles a bit, he is going to be ducking base hits before he is ten seconds older.

Giants Fighting Mad.

The Giants are three games down, but they also are fighting mad, and I reckon even their enemies won't accuse them of being quitters after what happened yesterday in the seventh and eighth innings.

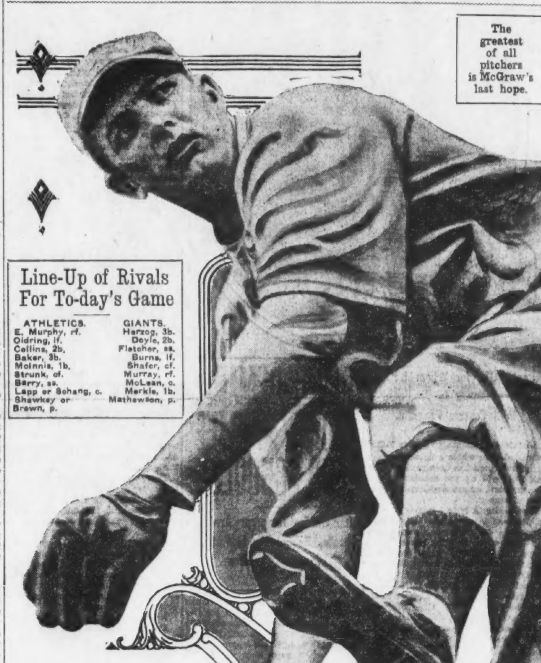

I was about to say that Matty would be on his own to-day, with his own crowd back of him. But I won't say that. That grand old pitcher doesn't need the ground or the crowd in his system. He would pitch as well before a million fans howling for his scalp as if the same bunch was putting for him to win.

But there is another and better point in his favor than the crowd. The Athletics are confident and cocky this morning. They are all puffed up, and a puffed-up team is likely to find rough shelling over a chap like Matty. I have a straight tip that Connie Mack called a meeting this morning and told his men something on that line. He is too busy a leader not to know what over-confidence may do even to his strongest.

Three arrests have been made without results.

Princess 'Pat' Wins In Tilt With Queen

SPECIAL CABLE TO THE ATLANTA GEORGIAN. LONDON, Oct. 11.—Princess Patricia of Connaught has emerged triumphant from a tilt with Queen Mary on the choice of a lady-in-waiting to accompany the Princess to Canada.

The usual attendant was absent. Queen Mary objected to the lady-in-waiting, and selected an elderly and sedate woman.

The deadlock was settled by the appointment of the Honorable Katherine Villiers, Princess "Pat's" original selection.

Kaiser May Try for America's Yacht Cup

SPECIAL CABLE TO THE ATLANTA GEORGIAN. HAMBURG, GERMANY, Oct. 11.—Emperor William is going to have a new yacht, "that will show a class of boats to every other boat in Europe." Max Wertheim, a well-known boat builder, was to-day commissioned to build a yacht to replace the Meteor.

It is reported that if Sir Thomas Lipton fails to lift the America's cup the Kaiser may take a whirl at it.

Leaves $15,800 Under His Pillow in Hotel

ATLANTA, IOWA, Oct. 11.—F. M. Jordan, a retired farmer of Frederick, R. D., complained to the authorities of the loss of $15,800, which he said he left under his pillow in a hotel. He did not discover his loss until he reached the railroad station.

Three arrests have been made without results.

Tillman's 'Cow' Horns Wall Street

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Senator Tillman's "allegorical cow," sketched eighteen years ago to accompany an attack by the South Carolina Senator upon Wall Street, was printed to-day in the Congressional Record.

One view shows the cow feeding on the farms of the South and West, while her golden milk is being drawn in New York and New England. Then the cow is pictured with the Supreme Court chomping her as she attempts to feed on income taxes and the Western and Southern farmers are getting no milk.

Pavlova Sails With Several New Dances

SPECIAL CABLE TO THE ATLANTA GEORGIAN. LONDON, Oct. 11.—Anna Pavlova had an enthusiastic send-off on her departure for America. She had a special section of the train reserved for herself, her company and baggage, the latter weighing nearly a ton.

Admirers loaded her carriage with flowers. A boy scout corps, "Pavlova's own," formed as a guard of honor around the car and performed a bugle march.

'1913' for 'MCXIII' Ends Old Custom

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Plain Arabic "1913" will be chiseled on public buildings completed this year instead of MCXIII. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has issued an order that the Roman numerals be discontinued.

The electrifying guides of Washington tell many jokes on the tourists who take these Roman letters for anything but the date of erection of the building.

Mrs. Wilson Bars U.S. Crest on New Auto

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The huge new touring car for Mrs. Wilson and her daughters will bear no coat of arms of the United States. This car, which will be used for social affairs only, is not an official car.

Mrs. Wilson also bars the coat of arms of her stationery.

DOOMED VESSEL AND SAVE 521 SURVIVORS

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 11.—The steamship Voltorno of the Uranium line, bound from Rotterdam to Halifax with hundreds of immigrants on board, has been burned at sea in a gale with heavy loss of life.

A wireless message from the Cunard liner Carmania, which with nine other trans-Atlantic liners rushed to the aid of the burning ship, stated that 236 passengers and crew were missing and that 521 had been rescued from a total number of 767 persons on board the ship.

Messages from other ships, transmitted to the Carmania, placed the number of dead at from 132 to 323.

The Voltorno disaster was an echo of the Titanic tragedy. Radiograms from the rescue fleet said that the number of life boats on the Voltorno was insufficient to accommodate the passengers and crew.

In Middle of North Atlantic. The disaster occurred in latitude 48°15 north, longitude 54°15 west, or in the middle of the North Atlantic. The scene of the tragedy was about 1,200 miles east of Halifax.

The following wireless message from the Carmania gave the first notice of the disaster:

Steamer Voltorno, bound from Rotterdam for Halifax and New York with 400 immigrants on board, a fire and abandoned Friday night in latitude 48°15 north longitude 54°15 west. Two hundred and thirty-six passengers missing.

The Carmania was the first liner to pick up the "B. O. S." calls when the opened the Voltorno was practically sinking. The Carmania immediately repeated the calls to other vessels giving the position of the Voltorno.

Nine other trans-Atlantic liners were within wireless range and speed toward the burning ship. The race was a thrilling one. A gale was sweeping the seas and the rescue ships had to pound their way through headwinds and raging waves.

In the rescue fleet were the following vessels: Carmania, La Touraine, Minneapolis, Rappahannock, Chesapeake, Narragansett, Devonian, Kronsland, Groszer Kurfurst and Seydlitz.

Carmania Wins Death Race.

The Carmania won the race to the Voltorno. She found the vessel a mass of fire, her propeller fouled and wallowing helplessly before the wind. All the boats had left the burning ship. Those still afloat were found half water-logged by the relief fleet, filled with half-frozen, covering refugees.

Wireless reports from the ten ships gave the following number of rescued: Carmania, 11; La Touraine, 40; Minneapolis, 15; Rappahannock, 19; Chesapeake, 25; Narragansett, 25; Devonian, 35; Kronsland, 90; Groszer Kurfurst, 105; and the Seydlitz, 35, making a total of 311.

The purser of the Voltorno, who was taken on board the Kronsland, reported that the number of passengers on the Voltorno was 845, and that she carried a crew of 95, making 940 in all on board. According to the pursers estimate the death list reached only 132. The original figure of the Carmania, that 236 were dead, was accepted, however, by the Lloyd's and other marine agencies.

Lifboats Crushed in Gale.

The majority of the wireless dispatches from Captain Barr, of the Carmania, told a dramatic story. The dead on the Voltorno were hoisted, crushed and drowned. Four of the six life boats carried by the ill-fated ship had been.

By being washed against the side of the burning ship, and all the occupants were drowned.

First Officer Gardner of the Carmania was in command of a fleet of small boats which tried for two hours to reach the side of the burning ship. The huge rollers swept the boats and smashed them to pieces.

In spite of danger, Captain Barr moved the Carmania in a gale

511 LIVES SAVED SEEK REE AS S. O. S. CASE OF BRIGGS HELD TO DEATH

Ten Liners Race to Aid of Doomed Vessel--Terrific Storm Bars Rescue of All.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 11.—The steamship Volturno, of the Transatlantic line, has been wrecked at sea, with a loss of at least 136 lives. The final death toll may be much higher when full details are received from ten rescue ships that dashed at full speed for the doomed vessel when the "O. S." was sent out by her wireless operators.

The Cunard liner Carmania, Captain Barr commanding, was the first ship to reach the Volturno. By wireless he made a number of reports to-day, the first stating that 236 had been lost. His later reports showed that the death list would carry at least 136 names, mostly those of immigrants bound for America. There were palpable errors in these numbers listed in each report, but by scrutinizing the wireless messages carefully, the Transatlantic line officials reached the conclusion that 136 was the correct number.

The Volturno burned while a terrific storm was raging, and hundreds of passengers on ships that had rushed to her aid stood helplessly and saw attempt after attempt to save the Volturno's passengers fail.

The flames in the hull of the ship evidently had been burning for some time before discovered. They got beyond control of the sailors Thursday night and raged for 24 hours before the destruction was complete.

The boilers exploded while the Carmania and her sister liners were going to the stricken ship's aid, tearing out a section of the steel hull. The boilers exploded while the Carmania and her sister liners were going to the stricken ship's aid, tearing out a section of the steel hull.

The disaster occurred in latitude 43° 33' north, longitude 14° 33' west, or in the middle of the North Atlantic. The scene of the tragedy was about 1,300 miles east of Halifax.

The following wireless message from the Carmania gave the first notice of the disaster: Responder Volturno, bound from Rotterdam for Halifax and New York with 600 immigrants on board, afloat and abandoned Friday night in latitude 43° 33' north, longitude 14° 33' west. TO SUE 5-DAY BRIDE FOR KISSING OLD FIANCE

MRS. JOHN H. GWINN.

Man Who Elope With Girl as Another Got License to Wed Her Asks Divorce.

If you had by whirlwind courtship got a girl away from her fiancé, and had married her in spite of her parents and an entire detective force, and she had been your bride four days, and you found her kissing another man, what would you do?

John H. Gwinn, of No. 4 Luckie street, who says that was just his experience exactly, has decided to answer the question by trying to divorce his five-day bride and allowing her, if she wishes, to marry her first fiancé.

Young Gwinn charges that his wife willfully and wilfully allowed herself to be kissed by Dr. P. H. Baxwell, a 10'clock came to Dr. Baxwell's house, No. 41 Kilian street, where he was spending the night, and urged us to hasten down to my wife's home to see her mother, who was reported to be very ill.

"When we arrived, we found mother-in-law apparently in good health and spirits. Shortly after this I lay down on the bed, where I remained, I believe, for perhaps an hour. When I awoke and came to my senses, I found my wife, who was gone and her sister, Marjorie, was sitting on the side of the bed.

"The neighbors told it. Later, after passing some words with my mother-in-law, I went out and finally succeeded in locating my wife in hiding at a neighbor's house. Some of these neighbors told me that she and Baxwell had been

MATHEWSON BATTLES MCGRAW FOR PHILADELPHIA

By BILLY SMITH, Manager of Atlanta Team.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—"The Old Master," Mathewson, was the last hope of the Giants this afternoon in the fifth battle for the world's championship of 1913. And all New York put up their final chip on him to keep the McGraw clan in the game.

A Mathewson victory meant another game Monday, when Mathewson again would be called upon to match his pitching ability against the terrific wall-papers of Mack. A loss meant the crown for the Philadelphia.

The shrewd Mack looked over young Brown and the veteran Plank as they warmed up, and finally selected the hero of thirteen years of American League battles.

FIRST INNING. Murphy cracked the first ball pitched by Matty for a single through short. Babe Odling tried to sacrifice, but Matty grabbed the ball and threw to Doyle in time to stop Murphy at second. After looking at one wide one, Eddie Collins smashed safely to right and Odling took all the way to third. There was an awful groan from the New York rooters when J. Franklin Baker walked to the plate swinging his home run bat.

The Platoon turned a long fly to Burns and Odling scampered in on the sacrifice. McKinnon, with two strikes called, lifted a foul to McKinnon. The best dropped the ball and was charged with an error. McKinnon then drove home a sacrifice, McKinnon then drove home a sacrifice, McKinnon then drove home a sacrifice.

McLean drew three balls and one strike and then asked to Odling. McKinnon then drove home a sacrifice, McKinnon then drove home a sacrifice, McKinnon then drove home a sacrifice.

VARDON AND RAY BEAT LOCAL 'PRO' GOLFERS

Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the famous English professional golfers, who were beaten by Outmet, defeated Stewart Maiden and Willie Mann, professionals of the Atlanta Athletic Club, 3 up in a best-ball foursome Saturday morning.

A gallery of more than 100, including many women, followed the players around the 18-hole course from the start at 10:30 o'clock until it ended in a drenching rain. All stood the wetting heroically.

Atlanta golfers declared that the play of the Britishers was wonderful, considering the fact that they had never seen the course before. The long driving of Ray and the accuracy of Vardon were the features.

Vardon made the 18 holes in 72, three strokes better than par and ten strokes better than local. Ray picked up one hole when he got into the rough, so his medal score was better than Maiden's.

The visit of the Britishers, each having held the English open championship several times, is the biggest golf event of the season to Atlanta. Since their defeat by the New England youth, Outmet, a number of wagers were placed on the Atlanta professionals.

SPRINGS TO LAST BARRETT RECOVERS; CANAL BECOMES REALITY

PANAMA, Oct. 16.—The Panama Canal is a reality. The waters of the Atlantic meet those of the Pacific in the greatest of man-made waterways to-day when Cuchiarra, slide, or Gamboa slide, as it also was known, the last obstruction separating the waters of the world's two greatest seas, was blown up.

President Wilson in Washington touched the button which set off the explosion.

There was a rumble as of a giant earthquake, a roar like the salvo of a thousand pieces of artillery and a torrent of dirt and rocks, as tons of dynamite was exploded. The destruction of the slide ended the dream of the Atlantic and the Pacific to unite in a constructed ditch for the first time in history.

Longworth's Sea Event.

The noise of rushing waters which followed the bombardment of nature's rampart mingled with the cheers that arose from United States army officers, canal workers and sightseers who were stationed at a safe distance. Among those who saw this epoch-making event in the life of the Panama Canal were former Congressman Michael Longworth and Philip H. Brown, chief engineer of the first canal company, who was the event in the Canal Zone.

The explosion was one of the final acts in the actual digging of the Panama Canal. One thousand holes had been drilled in the slide and in each hole from 80 to 100 pounds of dynamite had been placed. It was the largest blast ever used on the canal and was set off by electricity.

The slide, which occurred last December, was on the Pacific end of the canal, just south of Gold Hill. It was nearly 400 feet deep, and it was over 100 feet in width. Part of it was removed by workmen before the dynamite was placed in position.

Dredge Flat Enters.

After the explosion fourteen vessels of the Atlantic dredging fleet, which had been lying at Guanacaste, started for the Canal Zone.

Vessels at Savannah Blow Joyous Blasts.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 16.—Steamers representing the merchant marine of almost every nation in Europe in Savannah today blew joyous blasts as they celebrated the opening of the Panama Canal.

The celebration was a grand affair, with the ships blowing their whistles and firing their guns. The event was a joyous occasion for all who were present.

Bleas Wants Good Racing and Gaming

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—"I want plenty of good horse racing, good fighting and honest poker playing in my State," said Governor C. L. Bleas, of South Carolina, here on his way back home after a business trip to New York. "When asked if he was going to pay his respects to President Wilson while here the Governor said: 'I will.'"

"Since he appointed Gonzales as minister to Cuba I feel safe in his administration," he said.

ROBERTS' RESCUE ON REEF OF SHIPS; S. S. CALL SAVES 521

tion only 100 feet from the Vulturo. Attempt after attempt was made to throw lifelines from the Canadian to the doomed vessel, but the wind prevented.

The scene on the stricken vessel was heart-rending. The fire had started in the fore end of the ship and as it lay toward the stern before the onrush of the flames the immigrants and sailors were crowded to the aft.

Forced to See Bores Burn.
Their cries and shouts for help came to the ears of the officers and passengers on the Canadian, who had to stand by helpless and watch the victims perish before their eyes.

The rollers which crashed against the rescue ships were created with bodies of men, women and children and charred wreckage. Billowing clouds of smoke were borne upward by the gale, adding to the peril to the gloomy storm.

The glare of the flames in the darkness lighted up the surrounding sea. The fumes soon reached the engine room of the stricken ship and the boilers exploded.

Down round the blackened hull still smoking, and it was not until day-break this morning that the officers of the rescue boat were able to secure any definite information as to the number saved and missing.

In reporting to his command, Captain Harr said:

Captain Reported Saved.
"A storm prevented our progress toward the scene of the disaster, and also prevented the other ships from getting on the scene as rapidly as otherwise would have been possible. The Vulturo was after and helped when we reached her. We immediately sent out the international call for help and responses came from nine other liners."

A message to Lloyd stated that the captain of the Vulturo had not died on his ship, but had been taken on board the Kronland, with the second, third and fifth officers.

The Vulturo was built for the Canadian Northern Steamship Company, but is chartered by the Transatlantic Line. She was a twin screw vessel of 5,612 tons. She had two decks and a shelter deck. She was constructed in Glasgow eight years ago. The Vulturo sailed from Rotterdam on October 2 and did not stop at any English port.

SURKEY WEEKLY TO FACE MATTY IN 5TH GAME

Billy Smith Believes Series May End With To-day's Battle.
Praises Giants' Gameness.

a club as his. The Cubs suffered from that trouble in 1906, and the baseball world never will forget what happened.

Exciting Game Expected.
So long as the series continues to-day, and I believe it will depend mainly on whether another big pitcher can deliver, of course, the hard hitters of the Athletics may jump in as they do against Terrau and every pitcher who has been called on.

But it must be remembered that Terrau is not pitching for the Giants to-day.

There was a rumor that Mack was about to plan and use the Plank in the effort to settle the thing for sure in this game, but I don't believe that. Mack knows he can afford to take almost any kind of a chance in this game, and that if he loses it he will have Bender and Plank well rested up and in great shape for next week—his two bowlers, you might say, with Matty, the Giants' only real pitcher, so far as this series is concerned, worn out and not in shape to work tomorrow.

So I think the dose is Matty against Shawkey, with Carroll Brown as an outside chance.

There is a lot of criticism in New York as to the way Matty has handled this series. They are saying that Muggsy has been a victim of stage fright in every game, and that his judgment has been rotten in every instance where he was called on to make a quick decision. The grandstand manager, say Terrau ought to have been started on this game, or that Marquard, having got his nerve back after his beating in that contest, should have been picked to work in place of Demaree.

Criticized for Using Grant.
Also, they are criticizing Matty for sending up Eddie Grant to bat in the pinch yesterday, with Marquard well and one of the best left-hand hitters in the business, in place of the fact that he is a splitter.

So I am a manager myself, I know how easy it is to criticize a manager's mistakes after it is all over. Anybody can tell to a dot what ought to have been done. In Philadelphia they are praising Conte Mack, even with the games he has won for not sending in substitutes to bat for Lapp and Plank when he appeared to have the second game clinched in the sixth inning of the game Matty beat the Athletics.

There is no pleasing the "grandstand managers," so I repeat the regular managers will just have to plod along and use their own judgment, since they can't count on seven thousand wise guys on every night they have to make while the game is in progress.

It is always been a funny thing to me that these guys who know so much about running a club follow that tradition and instead of keeping books or selling ribbons, they have to make while the game is in progress.

Now we have that game yesterday. For one thing, I believe it set at rest some folk talk about the Giants not being game. Nobody who watched them win two games against the Red Sox last year, after the count was tied one against them, could possibly figure out that they were anything but a game ball club. And nobody who saw them try to win the game yesterday, with the 6 to 0 lead, and the chief pitcher at the top of his form, could see any yellow.

Call Merkle Unlucky.
I would like to see a ball player, Merkle, who is a fine ball player, but he is one of the unluckiest chaps that ever lived. So is Shawkey. Fred went to Matty with tears in his eyes yesterday and pleaded to be allowed to play. Matty may have made a mistake in letting him play, with his high fly by Merkle that he could have been sitting down and under his leg he was right. Merkle's injury, too, showed him down to where he failed to get an easy food in the game. But it was not lack of gameness, it was simply the fact that the men were hurt and unable to show their usual speed.

And you have to hand it to Merkle for his come-back in the seventh inning. That old boy limped up to the bat with two on and two out and he walked into Chief Bender as he had a wall as I ever saw. The ball went on a line into left field and going so hard it bounced off the ground into the bleachers.

While I am sure the better club won yesterday, I must admit that Bender was mighty lucky. For instance, in the eighth inning, with Snafu on third and two on and one run needed to tie the score, Red Murray drove a fence ball down to one side of Collins. Eddie threw himself at it and stopped it, but nearly killed himself on his legs. He got the runner on first, but he was nearly killed by it. It must be remembered that that drive had been six inches shorter or it would have been safe, and soon clear away all trace of Bender. I believe the Giants would have won the game if Bender had been in good and Bender was about all in.

But as I have said before, the better team usually gets the breaks. And I know the Athletics is the better team.

There is a good chance that the series will end to-day.

New U. S. Ambassador Makes His

Debut in Berlin at Luncheon in His Honor.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.

BERLIN, Oct. 11.—Ambassador Gerard made his public debut as a speaker here at a luncheon in his honor at the American Legation Club.

About 100 members of the American colony were present. Mr. Gerard said:

"When we see what a great nation the German people have created upon such a meager soil, we realize how much we are indebted to them."

"I regard it as a great privilege to be assigned to a post in such a country, under a ruler of such great character and wonderful activity as the Kaiser."

After they were seated, Mr. Gerard said:

"TIFT INSTITUTE NEXT WEEK."
TIFTON, Oct. 11.—Between 35 and 40 teachers are expected to attend the Tift County Teachers Institute which will be held in Tifton next week for five days, beginning Monday in charge of State Superintendent F. E. Land.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't

Harm Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her child "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative. Because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without hurting.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at "California Syrup of Figs," give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative" and in a few hours all the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic, feverish, a good "fruit" cleaning should always be the first treatment.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. U. S. MINISTER ENDS REIGN OF DOMINGO

Serves Notice U. S. Never Will Allow War Again in Central America.

SANTO DOMINGO, Oct. 11.—The American Minister to the Dominican Republic, James M. Sullivan, has issued the warning that this country to sign a peace pact and the revolution headed by General Horacio Vazquez against the Government of Provisional President Jose Boudier Valdes thus is brought to an end.

The Minister's action is the first successful application of the new Latin-American policy of the United States, which is to the effect that the force of arms never again can settle any question in this country.

Mr. Sullivan has made it known that in the future any uprising will be stamped out as criminal. The United States will support the constitutional authority against force regardless of the merits of the issue.

The people of Santo Domingo are being taught that the remedy for future grievances lies in the free ballot at an election.

The American policy as announced by Mr. Sullivan has been accepted joyfully by all parties regardless of political affiliations.

The American Minister arrived at Santo Domingo City from the United States September 17 and immediately brought about an armistice between the rebels and the government troops fighting in the northern department. Since then negotiations had been in progress, with the result that what promises to be a sanguinary revolution in the history of the Dominican Republic has been averted.

A SOUR STOMACH GAS, INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapiesin" Ends All
Stomach Distress in Five Minutes—Time It!

If what you just ate is mounting on your stomach or lies like a lump in your throat, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate, or you are heartburned, or have a feeling of distention, food, or a feeling of fullness, had taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent boxes of Pape's Diapiesin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must first be relieved, and why they relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes.

"Pape's Diapiesin" is harmless, taste like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood of what you eat, besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite, and what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapiesin" crates, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this new preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gas, heartburn, nervous dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes—A-T-E.

SIDELIGHTS ON POLITICS

By JAMES B. NEVIN.

The board of managers recently named for the Georgia School for the Training of Girls, known generally as the "wayward girls' home," is very generally approved throughout the State, if the comments of the State press reveal the true status of the public mind with respect thereto.

Governor Hutton long ago made it plain that to make up this board, as he was particularly anxious to fill the positions with the very best material available. It is a board replete with persons of much experience and of high character.

Among the three men composing the board, the two women required to be named on the board, certainly are ideally fitted for the work.

BIG BOOST GIVEN STATE ROADS MOVEMENT

Prison Commissioners, Who Will Name Highway Head, Elated
at Turn of Affairs.

That the good roads movement in Georgia has received the greatest boost recorded in many years, as a result of the decision of the Prison Commission to appoint a State road supervisor, was the opinion of good roads boosters Saturday. The new supervisor will be appointed January 1.

According to the terms of the resolution passed by the Prison Commission, the State supervisor shall be a civil engineer of broad experience, and special knowledge in road building. He will confer with the county authorities throughout the State in regard to the construction of roads. Four inspectors instead of five, as at present, will assist the new supervisor.

Thorough System Aimed At.
The underlying purpose of the Prison Commission in deciding to appoint a State supervisor is a thorough organization of forces for the building of good roads throughout the State. The commissioners feel confident that when the counties see the advantages that may be gained by State supervision of roads there will be a strong demand for county supervisors throughout the State, and that the Legislature will then furnish the necessary funds to keep the system going.

"We believe," state the commissioners in the resolution, "that as the counties receive the benefits to be derived from the expert advice and assistance of these officers that others will be employed and their services utilized. We firmly believe that this marks a long step forward in the construction of good roads in Georgia."

More Power for Commission.
In connection with the announcement of the appointment of a road supervisor, the members of the Prison Commission made public their views in regard to the extension of the commission's powers. All three expressed themselves in favor of the broadening of the powers of the commission so as to include thorough supervision of highway construction. Likewise all three commissioners are of the opinion that the supervision must be gradually extended because of the lack of funds at the present time. When the good results of State supervision are seen, they declared, the Legislature undoubtedly will grant the necessary funds to maintain the work on a large scale.

Boy Cyclist Struck By Car Recovering

John Blakely, 15-year-old cyclist, who was run down by a trolley car on Edgewood avenue Friday, is reported out of danger of death at the Atlanta Hospital. Both of his legs were fractured.

Dr. W. B. Sumner, superintendent of the Grady Hospital, vigorously denied the charges of Clarence Morgan that the hospital authorities refused to send an ambulance to the aid of the boy. Dr. Sumner said the Grady ambulance was on its way within five minutes after the call.

An investigation shows there was no fault whatever on the part of the hospital authorities.

More Evidence to Hand Against Slayer

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—New evidence obtained against Henry Spricer, confessed slayer of 25 persons, today led the Chicago police to plan the conviction of the multi-murderer in Cook County. Captain Halpin said he would not be released to the DuSane County authorities.

More evidence was found to substantiate the prisoner's confession that he killed a man and woman near Fox Lake and trampled their bodies into the marsh near the water.

'Stonebreaker' Was Wife's Name; Now His

DAVENPORT, IOWA, Oct. 11.—Preparations were being made today to take Colin Edwin Joseph Brunswick to the Federal penitentiary at Stillwater, Minn. Judge McPherson last night sentenced him to serve ten years. He was accused of taking Miss Aurora Stonebreaker into Illinois and Indiana, from Iowa for immoral purposes. Brunswick married the girl after the alleged violations of the white slave law were committed.

47 Little Ones Who Took Part in Amateur Play Entertained by Director.

Forty-seven little boys and girls of Center Hill, on the river car line, are still talking of the good time they had as guests of John Edward and Eugene Victor Starr, sons of Mrs. John Starr, at one of the most elaborate and enjoyable children's parties the little suburb has ever seen.

For two hours and a half the children romped and played in the spacious yard of the Starr home, with no check on their enthusiasm. They played what games they liked, and played them in the fashion of children, with Mrs. Starr and her assistants supervising them only to see that none were hurt.

"Drop the handkerchief," "London bridge," "pass-in-front," "hide and go seek" and all the other childhood favorites were played to the accompaniment of joyous shouts and with all the energy that little boys and girls are capable of mustering. The feature of the afternoon, however, came about 5 o'clock, when the 47 were seated on the grass in a happy semi-circle and their little mouths filled with ice cream and cake.

The party was given in honor of the 25 children who took part in the amateur theatricals given by the Center Hill Women's Club, of which Mrs. Starr is the organizer, about a month ago.

Assisting Mrs. Starr in entertaining the children were several Center Hill young women, among them being Misses Warlick, Ethel Ham, Louise Dorough, Mary Hogan, Nell McFall and Ray Mitchell.

NEW NAMES FOR OLD ZOO FRIENDS

Lion Now Is "Felis Leo," Elephant
Is "Elephas Indicus," and—Oh, Ask Carey.

The animals in the Grant Park zoo are all labeled with bright new signs, but it is a dangerous hazard for a person who is not a zoologist to name them unless he knows them in plain English. For instance, the ring-necked doves are labeled Streptopelia semitorquata, a name bigger than the bird itself.

Don Carey, General Manager of Parks, Saturday explained the meaning of some of the most striking zoological titles. Mr. Carey is the one man in Atlanta who can pronounce them and spell them, too, without looking in a book.

Down by Lake Abana is an inclosure with a sign on it reading: "Macrocercus laevis."

"That's an alligator-snapping turtle," Mr. Carey explained.

One of the party remarked that there was one animal he knew, Mand, the elephant. Well, when he got to the elephant house he found the sign, "Elephas Indicus."

A grizzly bear was marked Ursus horribilis. A coyote was labeled Canis latrans. The name of the Canadian wolf was Canis occidentalis. The Mexican ant-eater was spelled Formica termitivora. The famous old lion was Felis leo, the leopard Panthera pardus, the puma Felis concolor. A parrot, a Macaw, was labeled Aras macaw.

Mr. Carey said the purpose of labeling the animals with their scientific titles was educational.

Hats To Be Shorn of Aigrettes at Ports
WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Aigrettes or birds of paradise on women's hats must be snipped off when the wearers disembark from the trans-Atlantic liners, Secretary McAdoo rules. The women may do the snipping, but customs inspectors will be provided with scissors in case military refuse. The aigrettes and birds of paradise must be sent back to Europe for sale, or will be destroyed.

SCHOOL CROWDING, SAYS MAYOR, AFTER VISIT

Mayor James G. Woodward, after making personal inspection of several of Atlanta's overcrowded public schools, declared Friday that school crowding is a cause of the bad condition. He said the Board of Education has been yielding to class prejudice for years in building schools and in assigning pupils and that a little study of the school districts will indicate to any fair-minded man that the schools are being run in the interests of particular classes rather than for the whole people of Atlanta.

"I want out to make personal investigation of the schools so I could know what relation to put in the reports of bad management and to determine the truth of sensational published statements of acute overcrowding. I want the people to know what I found," says the Mayor.

"First, I went to the Highland Avenue school, reported to be the most overcrowded in the city. It is overcrowded. The new five-grade Moreland Avenue school, built to relieve the Highland Avenue school, has not yet taken its full quota of pupils. There was much complaint.

"When I had my eyes opened as to reaching the Boulevard school.

BACKACHE A WARNING YOU SHOULD HEED

It Is One of Nature's First Signs of Kidney Trouble, if Neglected, Serious Diseases May Follow.

When the kidneys are clogged up and inactive, nature has a way of warning you. Backache is one of the first symptoms. You may also be troubled with disagreeable, annoying bladder disorders, attacks of lumbago or rheumatism; become nervous, tired and feel all worn out; puff swellings show under the eyes or the feet and ankles; and many other symptoms are notified. If neglected, kidney trouble, dropsy, diabetes, or Bright's disease, which so often prove fatal, may result.

It is not just dangerous, but needless for you to suffer and endure the tortures of these troubles when a little Croxone can help you quickly and surely end all such misery.

There is no more effective remedy known for all such troubles than Croxone, because it reaches the cause. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings, cleans out the clogged pores; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and water matter that lodge in the joints and muscles; and causes those terrible rheumatic pains, and makes the kidneys drive and sift the poison out of the blood and drive it from the system.

You will find Croxone different from all other remedies. It is practically impossible to take it without results.

An original package costs but a few cents and the purchase price is returned to you. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to end the worst backache, relieve rheumatic pains, or overcome urinary disorders.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Mayor Harrison was ill to-day. His physician says he has "brain fog and fatigue."

This fact is revealed in a statement made Thursday by Mrs. Amelia R. Woodall, president of the Atlanta Equal Suffrage Association and treasurer of the Georgia Woman Suffrage Association.

Mrs. Woodall declared that the noted English militant viator would do more harm than good to the cause. She drew in contrast the sentiment of Georgia as compared with Mrs. Pankhurst's attitude toward law and order, and said that

Authorities Still Far From Solution Of Express Robbery

Detectives are a bit deeper in the mire of mystery in their effort to discover the chief who loaded an express car of $72,000 recently between New York and Savannah.

During the last week a few of the many persons under suspicion have been cleared, following minute re-search by the Pinkertons and special agents of the Adams Express Company. By the end of another week it is believed the mystery will have been solved to a few.

The detectives frankly admit they are more puzzled than ever, but nevertheless are holding out hopes of obtaining evidence within the next few days to warrant an arrest.

from her investigations, the militant's presence would only inflame public prejudice against suffrage.

"Being a Southern woman and a native Georgian, I think I speak accurately when I say I think that Southern women are always gentle in the methods which they use to obtain what they desire," said Mrs. Woodall. "From the viewpoint of a suffragist, I do not believe in breaking law to establish law. Peace and arbitration is now our slogan, therefore we could not endorse Mrs. Pankhurst and her methods, which are just the opposite."

"In talking with men and women from all sections of the South whom I have met, I have found that they are all in favor of the peaceful method, and I have been very much pleased to meet this summer. I found that they measured up as suffragists by the English militant."

"These people were of different grades of intelligence, but I found that upon the minds of all of them the same thought had been impressed. They seemed unconsciously of the good work being done by American suffragists to obtain a Federal constitutional amendment and the extension of the elective franchise in the States. They knew that the chief work for humanity in which we suffragists are engaged."

Like Carrie Nation.

"The average mind with which we have to deal and which we are trying to convert, fails to discriminate between Mrs. Pankhurst's motive and her methods."

"The minds of the anti-suffragists, being prejudiced against equal suffrage, can only grasp the fact of the haphazard, the bomb and the torch, and they class Mrs. Pankhurst in the same category with Carrie Nation."

"I believe the Southern woman, with her fine sense of justice and right, would never have joined in the movement to pass the constitutional amendment granting her the vote had she not realized that politics has entered the home and its sanctity is being desecrated."

"Our economic conditions are entirely changed and the preservation of high moral ideals necessitates an active participation in public matters. But as I have already said I do not believe in breaking law to establish law."

Bartlett's Objection To Series Bulletins Amazes Georgians

Baseball fans who are constituents of Representative Charles L. Bartlett of Georgia, were amazed Friday over the reports that he tried to restrain the World's Series enthusiasm which prevailed as the score was announced in the House by Representative Mann.

"It is beneath the dignity of the House," said Representative Bartlett. "You are disagreeable," retorted Representative Mann, who continued to read the results.

The scores were being read while a large number of the members of the House were patiently awaiting the arrival of enough Representatives to constitute a quorum. The sympathy of the other Congressmen was entirely with Mann.

113 FOES IN CONGRESS JAILED BY HUERTA AS POWER IS THREATENED

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.
MEXICO CITY, Oct. 11.—General Huerta to-day suspended Congress, Senators and Deputies were notified that they need not meet this afternoon as the provisional President has proclaimed a new election for members of Congress on October 24, this year.

Senator Dominguez, who disappeared on the night of September 20, after making a speech denouncing General Huerta in an assembly, is dead. It was learned today that his body was found on the city streets.

Investigation begun by the Congress of the business case was continued to-day, despite the arrest of more than 100 legislators last night on direct orders from the administration.

113 Now in Custody.
By arresting the Deputies, Huerta practically announced his assumption of the dictatorship of Mexico. One hundred and thirteen are now in custody and warrants are out for two others who have evaded arrest. Those seized had signed resolutions warning Huerta that the disappearance of Dominguez must be explained and had refused to withdraw the demand made upon the President.

The situation here is critical. The seventy-third infantry was held up at dawn and was reinforced by another regiment ready for quick action. Huerta's men were kept ready for battle.

Hours before the time set for Congress to convene a large force of police and soldiers was sent to the chamber of Deputies. This indicated that Huerta was planning to dissolve Congress.

After it became known that Dominguez was dead, his friends learned that he had made his will after attacking Huerta. To one of them he said:

Knew Speech Meant Death.
"I know that this speech meant my death, but some one has to make a stand or the country will be lost."

The Huertista home was at Coyote, but the Senator had always lived at the Jardin Hotel here during the Congressional session. It is believed that after his arrest he was taken to his home and put to death there after arrangements had been made in "prison" that he had committed suicide.

The Congressional committee that investigated the arrest of Dominguez was able to trace him only as far as Coyote, in his automobile, in which he was guarded by two secret service agents.

In his speech to the Senate Dominguez had said:
"You will tell me, gentlemen, that the attempt to capture Huerta is dangerous, for he is a blood-thirsty and ferocious animal, who assassinates."

THE SOCIAL WORLD

The weekend is proving unusually gay, with many parties and special features at the various clubs.

Two of the largest affairs of the season were given Friday evening at the Capital City and P-edmont Clubs when the old Guard gave a reception at the former and the opening of the latter was observed with a brilliant dinner.

Elaborate decorations were used throughout the Capital City Club, and many of the guests, in their brilliant uniforms later attended the dance at the P-edmont Club. Special guests included prominent army people.

There was a large receiving party. The members of the P-edmont Club were charmed at the recently made improvements, where additional space has been given by extensive additions.

The decorations were elaborately carried out in greenery, with pink and white roses. The dining room was so nicely handied to present a picture of the three flowers with pink and white roses and a handsome engraved menu card.

Many large parties were given, and the affair was an auspicious beginning to a very gay season at this club.

At the Pool Lake Country Club Saturday there was an exhibition match golf game between the club professionals and Ray and Vardon, the champion golfers of Great Britain. Many enthusiasts witnessed the contest.

On Sunday there will be matches between these great players and the professionals of the Capital City Club at the Capital City Country Club beginning at 10:30 o'clock and at 2:30 o'clock, with an intermission of two hours, when lunch will be served on the porch.

Birthday Party.
Mrs. J. B. Boardman entertained at a children's party Friday afternoon in celebration of the third birthday of her little girl, Helen Boardman.

The house was decorated with pink and white flowers, the table in the dining room having a centerpiece of pink and white roses.

Anyone who is an obstacle to his wife's wishes, but this should not matter, gentlemen. The country exacts from you the fulfillment of a duty. There is the risk—the certainty—that you will lose your lives. Will you, for fear of death, permit such a map to continue to wield his power? Your duty is unalterable, gentlemen, and the nation expects of you its fulfillment."

pink and white roses. The birthday cake was embossed in pink roses and bore three pink candles.

James were played and the prizes were won by Nellie Harre, Virginia Dance, Robert Johnson and Millard Bowler. There was a Jack Horner pie, from which the guests drew smiling sentences. After the games the little girls danced.

Mrs. Boardman was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. William Frazell and Mrs. LeRoy Webb.

The guests included Misses Mary Ruth McLean, Elizabeth May Savage, Nellie Harre, Virginia Dance, Helen Boardman and Lillian Boardman, and William Harger, Jr., Ralph Landford, Robert Johnson, William Frazell and Junior Zimpfman.

The Jewish Educational Alliance will be the scene of a dance given by the "Don't Worry Club" on the evening of October 14, the event to mark the formal opening of the alliance for the fall and winter.

Book-lovers' Club.
The Book-lovers' Club will hold its next meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. R. Berry on Park avenue. A novel feature of the program will be the reading of personal love letters by the members, the subject of the month to be "Love Affairs of Long Ago" by Mrs. W. E. Quillan.

"The Love Affair of Robert Emmet and Sarah Curran" by Mrs. Clements, and "The Love of George Lewis and Mary Ann Evans" by Mrs. Rimmer.

For Mr. and Mrs. Parsons.
The Parent-Teacher Club of Hill Street School held a meeting at the schoolhouse Friday afternoon, at which time Mrs. Albert A. Henshaw, president, made a talk on what recreation meant between parent and teacher. Mrs. Praxwell announced 22 new members.

Miss Emma Wesley spoke on what recreation meant to the mother. Miss Jones, of the first grade, spoke about the injuries done children by parents who entered them in school under the age of six. She begged mothers not to send babies to school.

Mrs. Praxwell announced that swings would be put on the grounds for the first grade children, and that a basketball field was in process of completion. Each member of the club was pledged to raise $1 for the work during the year.

"42 Special" Entertained.
On Thursday afternoon Mrs. W. B. Calhoun delightfully entertained the members of the "42 Special" and a few invited guests at her home in West End.

A color scheme of yellow and white was observed in detail. The room was very prettily decorated with naturalism, gold-colored and daisies.

Punch was served by Miss Virginia Whitman and Miss Debie Calhoun. At the close of the afternoon a delicious salad course was served.

The invited guests were Mrs. R. B. Nash, Mrs. J. K. Barrett, Mrs. J. E. Whitman and Miss Gloria.

The club members present were Mrs. P. J. Hunter, Mrs. A. G. Noyes, Mrs. E. A. Dobbie, Mrs. J. Leighton, Mrs. E. G. Little, Mrs. M. C. McPherson, Mrs. T. G. Hicks, Mrs. L. A. Butler and Mrs. W. B. Calhoun.

The hostess wore a gown of white-brocade, with a corsage bouquet of yellow daisies.

The club will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. L. A. Butler in Inman Park.

New Gymnasium Opened.
Miss Lucia Lee, who received her training under the best teachers in New York and Kansas, will open gymnasium classes for children, men and business girls Tuesday, October 14, in the Baptist Tabernacle gymnasium.

Miss Keller has been successful in all branches of gymnastics, swimming and playground work, having been connected with Y. M. C. A. and public school physical training.

For Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin.
Mr. and Mrs. Willard Baldwin, of Baltimore, are being entertained at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Remond. They will be official guests in a small party dining at the Capital City Country Club Sunday.

Church Tea.
The mothers' department of Trinity Church will give a tea Monday afternoon, following the regular meeting at the church. Mrs. J. Howard Jackson is chairman of a committee in charge, which includes Mesdames E. A. Harwood, John Harwood and Steve Harlin. All ladies interested are invited.

For Miss Sarah Rawson.
The series of parties to be given for Miss Sarah Rawson before her marriage to Mr. Smith will be continued at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. H. Rawson, on Monday.

Mrs. Charles A. Forrest and son, Charles A. Jr., who are in Anderson, S. C., visiting relatives, will return home Monday.

Mrs. and Mrs. Inman Gray, whose marriage was a recent event, are now guests of Major and Mrs. Earle Smith.

certain for Miss Rawson and Mr. Smith, the date to be decided later. The series will conclude with the buffet supper which Senator and Mrs. Hoke Smith will give Tuesday evening, November 1, for Miss Rawson and Mr. Smith and their bride party at the Smith residence on West Peachtree street. Guests will include the out-of-town visitors here for the wedding.

For Mrs. Garrett.
Mrs. Mary A. Garrett, who has been ill, was tendered a surprise luncheon Friday by Mrs. Julius G. Coffey. The handsomely appointed luncheon table was decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and daisies, and the guests included some of Mrs. Garrett's intimate friends—Mrs. R. C. Black, Mrs. Richard S. Raul, Mrs. William P. Patton, Mrs. William Ellis, Mrs. Joseph Hall and Mrs. William Riney Boy.

For Miss Clarissa Ryan.
Miss Arline Scully will give a "5 o'clock tea" Saturday afternoon, October 18, for Miss Clarissa Ryan, who leaves with her parents, Captain and Mrs. John Ryan, at an early date for residence in Fort Riley, Kan.

A SOUR STOMACH GAS, INDIGESTION
"Papa's Diaphepsin" Ends All Stomach Distress in Five Minutes—Time It!

It what you put into your stomach, so you must be careful of the food you eat. Refusing to digest, or you have gas and cramps, sour indigestion, food, or have a swelling of the heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach, headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on each fifty-cent dose of Papa's Diaphepsin and you will understand why this little trouble of all kinds must go away. They relieve sour, sweet, order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Papa's Diaphepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy; though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you sit in the table with a healthy appetite, but what will please you most is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh and you will not need to "cleanse" laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Papa's Diaphepsin" cranks, as some people call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever had for indigestion, gas, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and be yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes—Advt.

BUSINESSMEN SHOW MORE INTEREST IN THE SUNDAY AMERICAN AND GEORGIAN

More congratulations are published to-day, of representative men, on THE SUNDAY AMERICAN'S great achievement—a net paid circulation every Sunday now of over 100,000 copies.

COL. FRED J. PAXON, Merchant, philanthropist, and Church worker.

Distinctive leadership has been assumed by HEADSTAFF THE SUNDAY AMERICAN since its entrance in the Southern field. Its spectacular growth in circulation has been a powerful and beneficial influence.

The leadership of THE SUNDAY AMERICAN, as well as THE GEORGIAN, is of an admirable sort. There is a kind of hearty goodliness that pervades the entire staff of the SUNDAY AMERICAN, and it is this hearty goodliness that has made it so successful. It is not a matter of aggressive, militant leadership, but of a business in Atlanta will have the same result. I am a reader of both THE SUNDAY AMERICAN and THE GEORGIAN, and the day would not be complete without them. The SUNDAY AMERICAN is very much in demand.

E. M. HUDSON, Sales Manager of the Stewart-McCord Company.

It makes one feel good to see an Atlanta paper meeting with the success as THE SUNDAY AMERICAN, and while the 100,000 mark in net paid circulation has been a Southern record, I predict that this newspaper will continue to grow and will reach the 100,000 mark in net paid circulation.

FORREST ADAIR, Real Estate Operator, Developer, and Myrtle Boulevard.

As a citizen of Atlanta, I want to congratulate THE SUNDAY AMERICAN upon the magnificent success it has achieved since its establishment here. It is gratifying to me to see the art of newspaper-making in my opinion is doing a wonderful work toward building up not only Atlanta but our entire Southern territory.

J. F. LETTON, Manager Hotel Ansley.

The achievement of THE SUNDAY AMERICAN in building up a circulation of 100,000 within so short a time after its establishment is one of the most remarkable examples of enterprise I have ever seen. It marks a new chapter in the history of the South, and should be an inspiration to all business men of Georgia and Atlanta.

The influence of THE SUNDAY AMERICAN in Atlanta, THE GEORGIAN, and THE SUNDAY AMERICAN, can be well estimated. They already have been instrumental in the advancement of the state and city, and Atlanta since the day they were established. Both of them can be numbered among the best newspapers of the country and I am confident that they will continue to grow, both in circulation and in influence, until there are none better.

WILLIS E. RAGAN, Capitalist and Merchant.

I am indeed glad to know that THE SUNDAY AMERICAN has made such wonderful progress. Undoubtedly it is due to its splendid management in giving the people just what they want. It is an illustration of the spirit and the will to do all other business here which have brought about the success of this paper.

Death Hovers Over

Toombs Ordinaries

ATLANTA, Oct. 10.—The special session to fill the vacancy in Toombs County Ordinary's office, caused by the death of Judge J. Lawson Wilkes, resulted in victory for Judge Shelton P. South over four rival candidates.

South was the third name on the ordinary's office caused by death within the last two years. Judge George T. Mason died November 1, 1911; Judge Don C. Dille, September 18, 1912; and Judge Wilkes, September 18, 1913.

Many Moonshiners' Revenue Men Busy

The open season for moonshiners has begun, and Government hunters report the game unusually plentiful, especially in the mountains of North Georgia. Several revenue men who have been up in the mountains have returned with good hauls and the county jail is harboring between seven and fifteen lawless moonshiners with a wonderful knowledge of the whiskey and a supreme disregard of the law.

Dentist Used His Child to Swindle

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—"My little girl wrote and passed the checks," was the confession to-day of Dr. D. Kimmis, dentist, incident to the arrest, a few days ago, of a 12-year-old daughter, Priscilla. The child was discovered passing checks forgeries in department stores.

The train had just come from the Jefferson division. The engineer was crushed and died soon afterward.

JOEPPS ENTICED BANKERS TO RICHMOND

Elloquent Plea Extolling Virtues of Mint in "Wet" Town Defeats Atlanta.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—The fragrant and delicious mint just lost Atlanta the 1914 convention of the American Bankers' Association. That is the consensus of opinion among the delegates here to-day.

This luscious decision, whose potency every true Southerner instinctively would have recognized, was powerful enough to sweep the delegates to vote for Richmond, Va., as the 1914 convention city after Atlanta admittedly had the authentic pledge and practically delivered.

Calmly reviewing yesterday's action, it appears almost unbelievable that a body of coldly calculating, unimaginative financiers of figures and interest tables could be swayed by any sentimental argument, but the sober fact remains that at the magic mention of the South's most famed libation the bankers were stamped.

Here is how it came about: Atlanta bankers had been presented by John K. Otley. His remarks were followed by Sol Weiler, of New Orleans. Other good speakers from the South followed. Victory was hovering over the bankers of the Gate City. These speakers no hope for any of the rival cities.

Then Thomas R. McDade took the floor for Richmond. The delegates, out of courtesy, were willing to listen to him, but they did not propose to change their minds in the least. They had decided irrevocably upon Atlanta.

Mr. McDade conceded to Mr. Otley all of the claims he had made in behalf of Atlanta. He was more than gracious. The delegates were even more confirmed in their selection of the Georgia city.

"But," he added—and here the bankers began to take some interest in his remarks—"Richmond has all the advantages of this other Southern city and one thing else."

What could it be? Every separate

HAWTHORNE TO FAVE FEDERAL PRISON SOON

Author, Unbittered, Expected to Write About Injustices of U. S. Penal System.

Julian Hawthorne is preparing to leave the Atlanta Federal Prison October 16, the date of the expiration of his sentence with "good time" deducted.

Hawthorne, whose attitude since his incarceration has generally been one of reserve and reticence, desires to go from the prison without any notice or publicity, and for this reason the prison officials are maintaining the utmost secrecy as to the exact time of the day that he will leave the grim building which has held him nearly a year.

The distinguished author is said to have been embittered in the past by his experience inside prison walls. He has, however, given thought to some of the injustices of America's penal system, and it is expected that much of his writing of the future will be colored by the impressions and the conclusions formed during the period of his imprisonment.

He naturally was cast down for a time when the recommendation for his parole was turned down by Attorney General McReynolds, but of late he has been particularly happy and cheerful in the prospect of his early return to freedom. He has been permitted to walk about the prison inclosure as many hours as the prison regulations allow, and he will go forth next Wednesday unusually good humored.

banker stirred in his seat and picked up his respective ears.

And here it is. Then exactly at the psychological moment, McDade told them: It was the festive mint juice!

There was an undisturbed whoop of appreciation. McDade let the significance of this overwhelming advantage sink into their consciences, and then he subtly suggested that if they came to Richmond they would not have to go to a club every time they desired moist refreshments.

Atlanta, he warned the bankers, was a "dry" town. Richmond was not. Besides, the mint juice abounded in profusion in the highways and byways of the Virginia capital.

That was enough. There was a sharp, short struggle. Atlanta did not give up without a fight. It required two votes, but the mint juice argument won. The convention which was not unanimously of one mind for Atlanta had been changed like magic.

Men and Religion Bulletin No. 81 TO THE CHURCHES

"YOU SHALL HAVE POWER"

—ACTS 1:8

Your committee reports:

Atlanta had a district.

Men called it "segregated."

In it girls were bought.

Women were sold.

And liquor.

While scattered over the city in hotels and houses vice laughed at the lies.

For segregation only advertised.

In the favored spot landlords were getting rich a year ago.

Then you protested.

In Christ's name you pleaded—

The district closed.

ATLANTA CEASED PROTECTING CRIMINALS.

Homes for the victims were opened: a refuge for the fallen was founded; scores were helped.

Fallen Georgia provided a home for the incorrigible.

Georgia has established a school for wayward and delinquent girls.

And city after city, town after town has followed Atlanta in driving out protected vice.

You came to our prisons.

Young men and boys were there in stripes and chains for lack of money to pay fines for petty misdemeanors. Hardened criminals were their companions. Our State was—Our State is—manufacturing criminals.

You asked it—and our Legislature vote Probation into the laws of Georgia. To-day a judge who will can save a first offender.

Convicts, you found, clothed in stripes without regard to conduct.

At your request the Prison Commission ordered this stopped in Georgia, leaving only eight States which thus degrade their prisoners. To-day the convict can rid himself of the degrading stripes by proving worthy. You give him hope.

This summer you opened day schools in your buildings for children.

Daily Vacation Bible Schools, they were called. Fifty-seven teachers were employed.

And day after day twenty-five hundred eight-two children came without money to be taught.

You gathered these before they had become wayward, incorrigible or fit for probation or the jail.

But over all was a shadow.

Again and again in fighting vice, helping prisoners, teaching children you came upon the trail of that monstrous evil, the liquor traffic.

"IT SENDS THE INDIVIDUAL TO THE OUTER, RUINS THE HOME, CORRUPTS POLITICS, AND IN SOME RESPECTS IS THE MOST POWERFUL FOR OF THE CHURCH OF CHRIST."

"Above the cradle of every baby in America hovers the vulture, the saloon."

And yet, complacent ones urge that you are recreant to your duty.

"Fresh only the gospel," they say, forgetting that the good news which brought our Lord and Saviour to the cross is the very light which makes it impossible for you to be silent in sight of the sin and shame and suffering caused by the liquor trade.

You must cry out.

If silent you would share the guilt. For in the pocket of every citizen of a community that licenses these curses is a part of the price of the tears and blood of women and children.

God's light will lift this shadow.

Across the ages He calls:

"Go forward."

You have the power. Let us obey!

Last year your Committee disbursed the following sums:

PLANS MADE TO ENTERTAIN 28 CONVENTIONS

Auto Roads to Battlefields and Stone Mountain Embraced in Bureau's Scheme.

Extensive plans for improvements in and around Atlanta in order that the 28 conventions scheduled for that city in 1934 can be properly entertained are under way by the Atlanta Convention Bureau. The project was launched at a meeting of the executive committee of the bureau at the Piedmont Hotel Thursday night, when the eleven members were guests of Manager H. R. Duffie at dinner.

Realizing that the old battlefields are Atlanta's greatest asset, the bureau plans the construction of an automobile boulevard that will completely circle the historic places, so they can be seen clearly without getting out of the automobile or of the vehicle.

This road, it is proposed, will start at the outskirts of Atlanta and encircle the grounds where the Battle of Atlanta, the Battle of Peachtree Creek and the Battle of Jones Ferry were fought. It is hoped to have the road completed by July 21, 1934, when the fifth anniversary of the Battle of Atlanta will be celebrated.

The bureau also has under way a plan for the establishment of a permanent roadhouse and barbecue grounds at Stone Mountain, which is one of Atlanta's most famous attractions. It is also planned to build a new race automobile track on the mountain, which will enable the bureau to make the trip in style.

Thursday night's meeting of the committee was appointed to arrange the details of the proposition that will be made to the executive committee of the American Hotel and Restaurant Association to induce the organization to hold its 1934 meeting in this city. The committee is composed of the following:

Walter L. Moore, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Shelby Smith, of the Board of County Commissioners; C. D. Knight, of the City Board of City Managers; of the Wholesale Grocers' Association; Frederick J. Drake, of the Retail Grocers' Association; H. N. Duffie, of the Atlanta Hotel and Restaurant Association; and J. H. Houser, secretary of the Atlanta Convention Bureau.

Atlanta Industry Statistician to Have Bulletins in Depots and Hotels Soon.

Active work on the project to place signboards and bulletins filled with information about Atlanta's resources in the railway stations and hotels has been begun by W. H. Leahy, secretary of the Industrial and Statistical Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce.

The information that will be placed on the bulletins and signboards will contain everything anyone needs to know about Atlanta, including the altitude of the city, figures proving the healthfulness of the climate, the bank clearing, the weekly payroll, the population and the rate of growth, figures showing the manufacturing industries located here and the magnitude of their products, and other data that stamp Atlanta as one of the foremost cities of the country.

Mr. Leahy said Friday morning that he expects to have some of the bulletins boarded and displayed in place within a few weeks. He is now preparing the data, and will have the boards printed as soon as this task is completed.

DELIGHTS OF GEORGIA POLITICS

By JAMES B. NEVIN

At a banquet to be tendered him Saturday night by citizens and admirers who reside in Brunswick and Glynn County, former Congressman William C. Brantley will be presented with a handsome silver service.

The fund with which the service was purchased was made up entirely within the county of Glynn, and the service is very handsome, notwithstanding the fact that the subscription was rightly limited to $1 each.

Practically every business man in Brunswick contributed, and the fund was the result of the generosity of the community. Mr. Brantley always has been very popular, and he responded immediately and graciously.

Mr. Brantley has decided to make Brunswick his headquarters, although all over the South, and it may be that he will find it impossible to remain in that city a great deal of his time.

Overworked Women.

A little too much work soon weakens a woman, physically and nervously. What she needs, then, is a tonic. A tonic takes the place of a rest, as it helps the system to "catch up"—to pick up the dropped stitches and start again into the daily work, in good health and good spirits. The best tonic for you to take is CARDUI, the woman's tonic. Many years of success have proven its real merit, in all cases of female weakness. Cardui contains no dangerous, poisonous, minerals; no habit-forming drugs; no harmful ingredients of any kind. It is simply a mild, vegetable extract, of medicinal, tonic herbs, with great efficacy in the treatment of the ailments and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex. Please try Cardui. It cannot hurt you. It is sure to do you good. If may be the very thing your system most needs.

"A PERFECT WRECK"

I was a perfect wreck from female trouble. I had pains in my right side, and suffered from fainting spells and dizziness; then I would have numb, cold feelings. Sometimes my feet were swollen, so I could not walk a step. I had so much backache and was so nervous and weak. My appetite was irregular, and my kidneys troubled me at times.

After 20 years of suffering, a friend advised me to give CARDUI a trial. I did so, and found great relief, after taking the first bottle. I continued to take it until I was completely cured. Now I am a well woman and do almost all my household.

Veteran Plank to Retire After Series

All Giants' Chips Down on Matty

By J. W. McConaughy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—About 50,000 fans were headed for the Polo Grounds early today to pull down the curtain on a season of the greatest series of the Giants and Athletics for the baseball championship and the winners of the game retire.

It may be the last chance for the Giants as they are defeated today in the final game of the series. The 6-10 victory of the Athletics in Philadelphia yesterday gave them a 3-10 lead in the four games of the series.

It is the last stand of the Giants, and all of the advance information is to the effect that that grand old pitcher, Cy Young, will not be there to lead the team.

There is a possibility that Cy Young will be there, but it is not probable that he will be. He is a proven winner and his presence in the game will be a great help to the Athletics.

Old Matt Plank to Quit Game. Matt Plank, who has been the star of the series, will be retiring after this game. He has been a great pitcher and his presence in the game will be a great help to the Athletics.

There is a possibility that Cy Young will be there, but it is not probable that he will be. He is a proven winner and his presence in the game will be a great help to the Athletics.

Morris and Referee Tricked by Gunboat Smith; Carl Loses

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—A clever trick by "Gunboat" Smith and his manager, and for which Referee Joe

"Belt" to-day marks defeat after Carl

Morris' name instead of victory.

Morris and Smith were booked to go ten rounds at the Garden last night. Suddenly the fifth round opened when Morris shot a light blow which seemed to hit low. It wasn't a hard punch, and it is doubtful whether it hurt the Gunner, but he doubled up against the ropes, seized again and cried, "Foul." The Gunner's manager took up the cry, and almost instantly Referee Joe stopped the battle, giving it to Smith. The blow was unintentional, and carried no damaging effect.

The 100-mile race will probably start about the time the seventh lapning is going on. This will be done so that the fans will get a hope of action in as little time as possible.

Four hundred times will the riders travel around the wooden arena. This is a terrific strain on the men, and they will surely earn their money this time.

Every rider will have mechanical aids at his pits to make tie changes and whatever other necessary repairs are needed.

There will be a team race, and the riders have been paired off as follows: Flickenstein and Schwartz, Stender and Bruerman and Reuel and Luther and Glenn.

How a Giant Mammoth Died

As He Sank Helpless Into the Frozen Marsh and Vanished, So
Brutal Power of All Kinds Will Disappear From This Earth
One Day, Destroyed by Its Own Weight and Overconfidence.

Imagine a herd of enormous mammoths, with long tusks and red hair and little, fierce eyes, exceeding in power and bulk the modern elephant as the elephant of to-day exceeds an ordinary buffalo.

Then think of the biggest, most powerful of the giant beasts, the leader of them all, and you have the monster of this picture, drawn by a clever English artist, and illustrating the death of this giant, as scientists tell us it occurred.

It was bitter winter, in those distant days of a half-formed earth, before man had appeared in their shape of to-day. Driven by cold, the mammoth herd was migrating in search of food.

The giant monster with the long tusks was the leader. And it was for him to decide that the herd should cross or not cross the frozen marsh.

Hunger pushed the herd forward, caution held it back. The heaviest giant of all made the test, first one foot, then the other big front foot.

Then the whole weight on the treacherous ice made up of mud and water, of grasses, roots and bog.

For a while, cautious and trembling, balancing his big body, he went forward; then came the treacherous spot where some animal from below, perhaps, had forced his way up to breathe. And the giant was caught helpless and hopeless in the frozen marsh.

This striking picture shows the last hour of the tormented creature.

Slowly, in spite of his struggles, his weight pulls him down. The wolves and other little beasts that he could have crushed by dozens on his onward march gather to the feast. For they too, are driven by hunger, and the marsh upholds their light weight.

Forward, backward and sideways the mammoth swings his trunk, trumpeting, squealing.

The small animals are soon biting at his ears, at his eyes, at the big hair-covered feet, and the trunk is not quick enough to strike them.

Finally the battle against Fate ends. The eyes, the mouth, sink below the ice into the mud; the struggling ceases. And the wolves tear at the flesh of the big trunk and gorge themselves until it disappears from sight.

The bog closes over; the herd that has watched in safety turns in another direction, indifferent to the leader's death. Centuries—thousands of them—roll by. And now the scientists collect the bones preserved in the bottom of that bog, and man, descendant of one of the strange animals that lived in that day, makes this picture of the mammoth's death.

In the fate of this monster mammoth, once ruler of the earth and invincible in power, now a memory—the reconstructed curiosity of the museum—thoughtful man read a lesson of encouragement.

As that ruling giant of brute force disappeared from the earth, so other giants in their turn will disappear.

While the mammoth lived and ruled every creature believed that of course he would live and rule forever.

The first timid monkey-like human beings that saw the mammoth go by, cringing his way through every obstacle, had this thought in their dull brains: Always we weak ones shall flee in terror when we hear that crashing sound, and always that great animal will rule this earth, all-powerful, invincible, despising the weak.

But the mammoth is GONE, and his power and rule have gone.

And the creatures that were feeble, half monkeys and half men, now rule the earth. They have conquered the big animals and the small, conquered the lightning and the wind; conquered time and space—AND WILL ONE DAY CONQUER THEMSELVES.

We creatures more powerful than the mammoth, but timid and feeble compared with what we shall be, feel toward certain forces of evil as our timid ancestors felt toward the mammoth.

They said, "That mammoth must rule forever. His power makes it certain."

And we say, "Injustice, cruelty, poverty and anxiety must rule forever. Such monsters can never be destroyed."

But they will NOT rule forever. THEY WILL BE DESTROYED.

The power of thought has killed off the big monsters. The power of science, which is methodical thought, IS KILLING OFF THE MICROSCOPE ENEMIES, DISEASE-BREEDING GERMS, MORE DANGEROUS THAN MAMMOTHS.

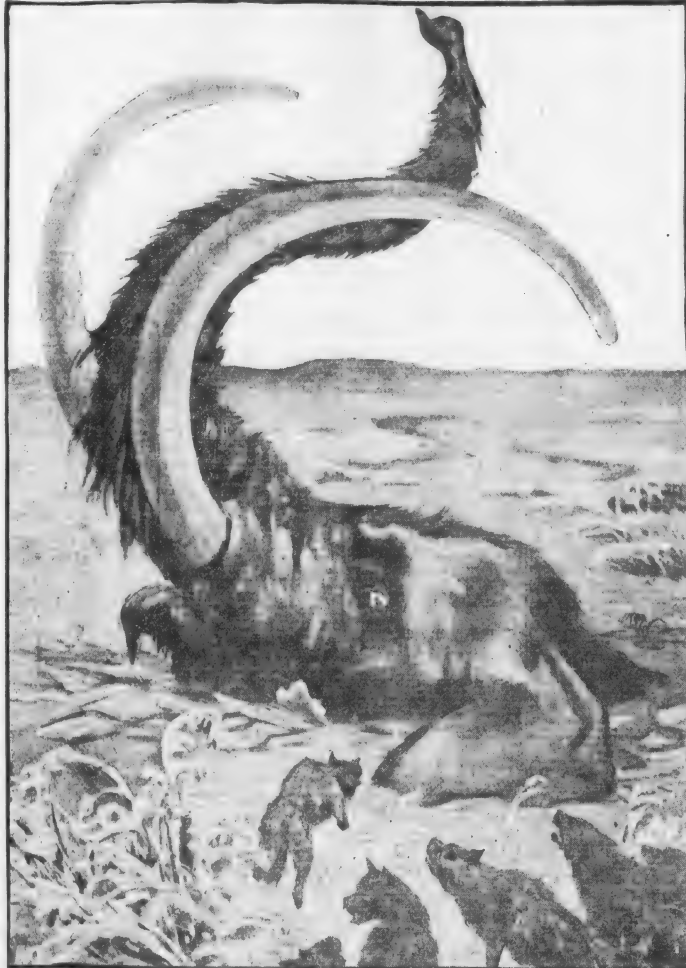

And thought and the conscience of the human race are killing off the moral monsters—injustice, brutality and selfishness. Those monsters of power and cruelty will sink and disappear, carried down by their own weight, destroyed by their own overconfidence, as this monster mammoth was destroyed long ago when the earth was young.

Now his body, reconstructed with minute accuracy, is used in the museum to teach a lesson to children and students.

The great bulk that once terrified the world now interests the children.

In ages to come, students, for the education of children, will reconstruct in minute detail, but entirely harmless, the brutality, the selfishness, the cruelty of our day; and artists, in pictures of beauty and power, will show how those monsters in their turn sank, never to rise again, as this old giant of the cold days sank to his bed in the mud.

The Death of Brutal Power

This picture shows you, vividly painted, the death of a giant mammoth ages ago. His bones, dug up to-day, tell the story of his death to scientists. The small, hungry animals, that he could have crushed like flies, tear at his ears, his eyes, his lips, as he struggles, dying. There is a powerful lesson for human beings in the death of this powerful monster of the ages long ago. (See Editorial.)

Winifred Black Writes on When Mother Gets "Peculiar"

By WINIFRED BLACK

SO she's getting "peculiar," is she—the mother you've always been so proud of? Acts queer, and gets mad at nothings, and cries over trifles, and thinks nobody loves her, and makes a nuisance of herself generally—doesn't she?

Wouldn't it be a little hard to wake up some bright morning and find Mother dead in bed—dead, because she wanted to die; dead, because she saw that you and the rest thought her "funny" and hard to bear with; dead, because you didn't "understand." Well, then, young woman, it is time you did understand. If nobody else will tell you about it, I will.

Your mother has stood about all she can stand in this world and live. She's fought and endured and suffered and smiled and cried and hoped and feared and agonized, till her nerves are about tired out; and they'll stay tired for a year or so, and Mother will be "peculiar" till those nerves are good and rested—and you'll have a time with Mother all these years. She'll be irritable and cross-grained and jealous and suspicious and dependent, and she'll want you to tell her that you love her three times a day and show her that you do every minute of the twenty-four hours. She'll act like a girl of sweet sixteen one minute and like a withered crone at another. She'll take queer dislikes to your friends and she'll take odd fancies to your enemies, and you'll wonder and wonder, and you will grow pale with her, and THAT is the tragic part.

She would never lose patience with you—she who was never too tired or too busy or too "nervous" to get up to take care of you at any time of the day or night. What a time you make over poor Mother's "neuroticities!"

Peculiar! She isn't half as "peculiar" as you were when she had to trot you around a cold room in her bare feet for hours at a time to keep you from freezing the fire.

And all these pretty young women dressed like fashion-plates—where do they all come from, Mother wonders daily. Was she ever as pretty as that, and as gaily dressed? Suddenly she gets up in the car and gives her a seat some day, and she realizes that they did it because she was no longer young.

Maybe—just in the prime of life, her husband thinks. He hasn't been in the prime so long as she has. Men stay boys longer than women stay girls, and there's a time at forty or so when the whole world seems fading away to the woman who's lived actively. She's tired so easily—she's worried over such trifles her head hangs so low over every faded slight, every little disappointment.

The girls are growing away from her. The boys are away at school. Nobody seems to need Mother any more. Oh, for a little dinner to banish; oh, for a little dinner to comfort.

Father doesn't tell her his business affairs any more as he used to when he had the little business there in the shady little street, and she used to go to the office and walk home with him every night and talk things over. He belongs to a club now, does Father, and he has no time to walk home. He rides in a machine, and things hurry so, and there's never anyone to be comfy with any more.

And all these pretty young women dressed like fashion-plates—where do they all come from, Mother wonders daily. Was she ever as pretty as that, and as gaily dressed? Suddenly she gets up in the car and gives her a seat some day, and she realizes that they did it because she was no longer young.

And she cries about it an hour when she gets home. Mother has to keep going—keep going with her heart a lump of lead—keep going with her brain a dull whirr—keep going with her nerves crying out for rest, for comfort, for help. And all she gets is to hear them planning to take their little jinks without her—and she was once the life of the whole party!

Poor Mother! Be patient—be kind—be intelligent with Mother and her peculiarities, and some day you'll wake up to find the queer old Mother gone and a sane, healthy, vigorous, cheerful woman in her place—the old Mother you used to know, only a thousand times wiser and kinder and better for all she has been through.

Writes on

Burning of Brieux

"In My Judgment," He Says,
"the Brieux Method Is a Good Method. His Warning Is Well and Wisely Framed."

By REV. CHARLES F. AKED, D. D.

Written for The Atlanta Georgian.

IT is reported that Brieux has been burned! And by whom? A famous club—the statement goes—has sat in judgment upon him; pronounced his doom; solemnly burned three of his plays—and sent out the story to the world.

Along with Brieux they burned Elementary Jans. They need not have troubled about her. She is of no account any way. She is neither good enough nor bad enough to be interesting. And a person who is so misqu岸ed as to waste time in reading about her is only a shade less unfortunate than the woman who waste time in burning her.

But Brieux? The Three Plays.

If the members of this club have books to burn and wish to burn them they are entirely within their rights in carrying out their wish. If they consider these books bad books they have a right to have that opinion respected. But when they make a formal and official act of this burning, make almost a ritual and ceremonial act of protest out of it, and give the news of it to the press; when they wish and show that they wish their act to have a public significance, then the burning of Brieux has interest for us all, and we are entitled to discuss it.

The three plays in question appear to be those three which, in an English translation, are published in a single volume with the title, "Three Plays by Brieux." Mr. Bernard Shaw is responsible for the translation of one of the three, and Mr. Bernard Shaw writes a long preface of extraordinary interest and power. The plays are called, in this translation, "Damaged Goods," "The Three Daughters of Monsieur Dupont" and "Maternity." The first deals with that terrible disease which follows upon licentiousness; the second with the dowry arrangements supposed to be an integral part of the French marriage system; and the third discusses questions of population and of race suicide from the point of view directly opposed to Mr. Roosevelt's and in the spirit of Mr. E. H. Rittenhouse, New York Conservation Commissioner, who declares that "what our civilization needs is not larger families, but more and better families."

What Will Prevail.

About one thing the members of this club are probably as well informed as any one can be, and that is the enormous demand for the volume. The sales have run to incredible figures. More than twelve months ago one book store proprietor told me that he had sold more than five hundred copies of it, and about as many copies of the first play in French.

My attention was first called to "Damaged Goods" by a deacon of my church, a medical man well known and standing high in his profession. He wanted me to preach on the play. I refused. But I took the responsibility of recommending the book from the pulpit and of urging men and women to buy it and read it. Seeing that I could not bring myself to preach about it, this physician begged me to deliver an address on it to men only, and to arrange for some women, by preference a physician, to speak about it to a meeting of women. It was the really great woman of the world, a woman whose name is known on two continents and who is a leader in the social reform movements of the world, saw "Damaged Goods" performed in New York, and she, too, asked me to preach a sermon upon it. This, again, is a view different from that of the ladies who burn Brieux. It is the view of one great and good woman. And it is the view which will prevail.

The policy of hush-up is a dangerous policy. But it has had its use. You need not say "hush" because nobody means to hush and you can't hush them! And what we have begun to call "the hush-up" and it may be that these ladies think the Brieux was the wrong way.

The Woman's Attitude.

In my judgment the Brieux method is a good method. His warning is a good method. His warning is well and wisely framed. It is bravely spoken, with true-hearted sincerity. It is not for the American woman to attempt to galvanize into life the corpse of that policy of hush-up born of man's determination to lead "a gay life," no matter what the cost to suffering womanhood. Rather, it is for her to look with clear, unflinching gaze at the ugliest facts of life—and to insist that men make an end of them. And she is doing this; and the world is being made over again by her strength and goodness. She has been made sick to her very soul by the concealments which conceal nothing and by the hypocrisy which only deepens the ugliness they reveal. If women are infinitely poisoned by the vice of men, it is not for women to turn the cry for decency into the cry for decency. The world—women as well as men—is cursed by ignorance and darkness. When the sun is held aloft by a man's brave hand it is not for women to quench the light. It is for women who have play for women and reverence for Woman, to burn Brieux.

Letters From the Readers of The Georgian

STANTON'S BIRTHDAY.

Editor The Georgian: The children of Indiana on October 7 celebrated the birthday of the Hoosier poet, James Whitcomb Riley. All praise to the children for this timely mark of appreciation. Their example should be followed by the children and grown people of Georgia and of the South in celebrating the next birthday and succeeding birthdays of the South's greatest living poet—Frank L. Stanton. Let the educators and lovers of literature take some step to honor this modest, tender and great contributor to the literature of this world. Let us honor him while he is alive, not wait until after he is gone to give tardy recognition to his genius.

WILLIAM MERRETT HAIRSTON, Atlanta, Ga.

SITUATION IN MEXICO.

Editor The Georgian: I wish to thank you for your recent editorial on the Mexican situation. It is America asleep, or it is to be held up to the scorn of the other nations of the earth by inefficient high officials? Shall we stand idly by and let the crime of men of our own blood who call loudly for our assistance? Shall we exchange our money for a scramble for political appointments that carry fat salaries, while our women are insulted?

SHALL WE ALIENATE THE AFFAIRS OF STATE TO THOSE WHO WILL APPEAR ON THE CHAUNTUAQUE STAGE TO ADD TO THEIR NEARER $10,000 A YEAR?

While our children are being slain? J. H. MOUTRIE, No. 423 South Marion street, Lake City, Fla.

"HELPFUL EDITORIALS."

Editor The Georgian: I want to thank you heartily for your helpful editorial in The Georgian. They certainly make one feel and think seriously. MARGARET E. THOMPSON

ERN MILLER GRAIN REPORT.
LOUIS, Oct. 16.—Late reports are to verify the early prediction of increased acreage of winter wheat in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. rains have interfered with to some extent, but will prove valuable in providing an abundance of soil moisture reserve to carry the crop through the winter and spring.

No Strike in Lancashire Causes
Good Buyers—Bears Sell on Promise of Warmer Weather.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The announcement by several private cables that no strike in Lancashire, England, was likely to be coupled with some better cables from Liverpool than had resulted in the cotton market opening steady to-day with first prices at a net advance of 3 to 12 points from the closing quotations of Friday.

The thing which injected greater strength in the English market was the news of lower temperatures and heavy rains in the western belt.

The early weather map, however, failed to confirm these reports, showing the cotton in Texas, Oklahoma and the eastern States. The map showed no frost, but cooler weather in cattle sections of North Texas. The cold wave was not strong enough for any damage on the cotton belt, and it is expected warmer weather will again appear Sunday night.

The buying continued rather general after the call by the same interest as it did Friday. They thought it was a good policy to sell after a hot break. They wanted a rally, but they feared it would make the position stronger. Later private wires indicated some unsettled weather conditions in the West. This helped them in advancing prices a few points from the opening. The crop, however, seemed to be in a position to hold.

There was renewed selling by those who bought heavily on the day before. The weather conditions were not so good as they were on Friday. It is a rally of about 10 to 15 points. They say that at six weeks' time the cotton will be in a position to hold in a few days. At six weeks' time there is still some long time left to come out.

During the last half hour the market was under pressure. Some of the selling was attributed to the longer wire. The cotton was in a position to hold.

Estimated cotton receipts:
New Orleans... 1,500 bales
Galveston... 21,000 to 25,000 bales

RANGE IN NEW YORK FUTURES

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 11.—Due 1 point higher on December and $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1 point lower on other positions, this market opened steady at a net decline of $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ points. At the close the market was firm, with prices at a net advance of $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ points from the closing quotations of Friday.

Best cotton quiet at 9 points advance; middling 7.61d; sales 5,000 bales, including 4,000 American.

Futures opened steady.
